NIN PRANTNER was a student at the Stiftsgymnasium in Melk/Austria before she started studying architecture at the Technical University of Vienna. During the course of her studies she filed her first patent application, and completed several internships, among others at the architecture firm Carl Auböck II., Bartenbach Lichtlabor, Designbüro Hülber and the Vereinigte Theaterbühnen and finished a training to be a metal worker. She graduated from university with a diploma and wrote her diploma thesis about „light“. Since 2001 she works as a self-employed furniture designer. Nin Prantner develops new furniture and smart products. Being an architect and a metal worker provides her with great possibilities for her designs. Her projects have been shown at national and international art fairs and exhibitions and have been sold at design auctions.
